Quick Reference Guide

Connecting

1. Press the power button. (Upper right of the CRESTRON screen.)
2. Once the AV system is powered on, select the appropriate connection type from the Source Select menu.
3. Firmly connect the appropriate cable to your computer.
4. Ensure your computer is on and properly configured to output video through the port you have connected to our AV system. On most computers, this will happen automatically.
5. Use the arrows located on the right side of the screen (up and down) to control the audio output, if applicable.

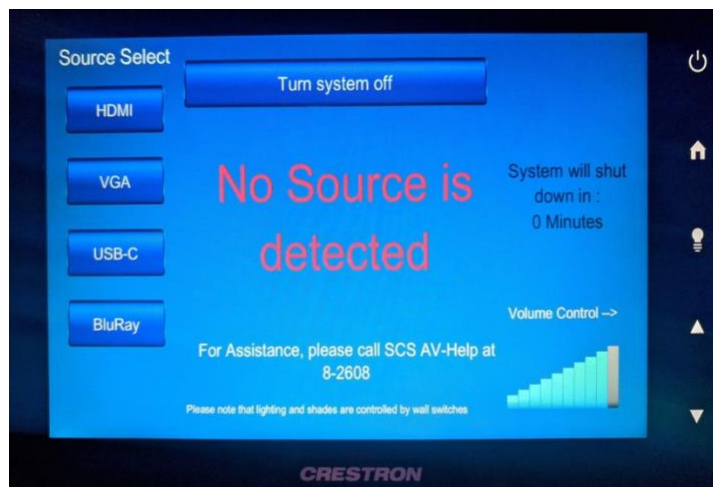

Connections

This system includes the following connections:

- HDMI
- VGA
- USB-C
- Blu-ray (Player hardware should be installed in-podium.)

If you require an adapter to use any of these connections, contact our help desk via our website: https://computing.cs.cmu.edu/

Room Reservations

https://rooms.cs.cmu.edu

Videoconferencing

Many of our rooms are equipped with web cameras and microphones which are Zoom capable when connected to a laptop.

Need Help?

412-268-2608, help@cs.cmu.edu, or computing.cs.cmu.edu/help